gatherings of illumination in sending blessings upon the best of creation I am installing a new Becker AR6201 Transceiver which has a built in voice activated intercom. I know that the AR6201's predecessor the AR4201 had a switch activated intercom. I have read many comments on the built in intercom systems on many radios not being very good and that it was better to wire in a separate intercom system to the radio. I am wondering if anyone has any experience with ...
